

PROBE KIDNAP-HI-JACKING NEAR FRANKLIN GROVE

BIT OF CORD TRAPS KILLER OF AUTHORESS

Murder of New York Beauty Solved by Detectives

New York, April 21.—(AP)—John Florenza, a paroled convict and upholsterer's helper admitted the slaying of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton today after police had traced the crime to him by a piece of cord found under the author's sofa.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine announced the solution of the case, on which 65 detectives had been working, a few hours after the 24-year-old Florenza was arrested.

For 11 days, Valentine said, detectives had traced the manufacture and sale of the cord—the sole clue—through factories in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Kentucky.

They learned it was a special kind used by upholsterers, and finally discovered similar twine in the shop where Florenza worked.

He had been under surveillance, Valentine explained, since he and three other men reported discovery of the body on April 10 in the Titterton apartment on Beekman Place.

Admitted Assault.
Valentine said Florenza admitted assaulting the 34-year-old author and then strangling her.

He was traced, the commissioner said, by a piece of twine with which she was bound.

Florenza is 24 years old and lives in Brooklyn.

Valentine said the youth told him that on Thursday, April 9, the day before the slaying, he was sent to the Titterton apartment to receive instructions for repairing a divan. At that time he saw Mrs. Titterton. The next morning, Valentine quoted him, he returned to the apartment alone, seized Mrs. Titterton, placed a gag in her mouth, and bound her hands.

Cut Twine From Hands.
After she was dead, the story continued, he placed the body in the bathtub and cut the twine from her hands.

Florenza returned to work, and came back with Theodore Kruger of the upholstering firm to deliver the divan. They found the door to the fourth floor apartment ajar, and called two building superintendents. The four men found the body face-down in the tub.

Florenza and the other three were among a dozen persons questioned immediately after police learned of the slaying.

Traced By Twine.
Working with the piece of twine as virtually their only clue, police traced its manufacture and learned it was a special brand used by upholsterers.

Florenza has a record of four arrests, police said, and was sent to Elmira reformatory for grand larceny on one complaint. In two other cases he was given suspended sentences, and one complaint was dismissed.

All the previous arrests had been

WARRANT ISSUED FOR CONGRESSMAN ZIONCHECK

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Judge Walter Casey of the District of Columbia traffic court today ordered a bench warrant issued for the arrest of Rep. Zioncheck (D-Wash.) after the Representative failed to answer a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour.

The congressman was picked up Saturday morning on Connecticut avenue. Officers said they had forced him to slow down while passing a truck. He was released on $25 collateral.

It was Zioncheck's second encounter with the metropolitan police force this year. He was arrested early New Year's morning on disorderly conduct charges while operating an apartment house telephone switchboard. He was convicted but permitted to appeal.

Under the bench warrant Zioncheck is subject to arrest and can be held in custody until the court is ready to hear the case.

The Representative, however, cannot be arrested while the House is in session. The House usually convenes at noon. Court attaches said the warrant probably would not be prepared in time for service today.

Men Entombed in N. S. Mine Abandon Hope

Feel Unlucky?

Mt. Carmel, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Folks who think luck is against them should consider the case of the Byrns family.

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Frances Byrns, a pneumonia victim.

Larkin Byrns, her husband, is ill in the Marine hospital in Evansville, Ind.

Three children, Nadine, 11, Junior, 9, and Jimmie, 7, are ill in a hospital at Princeton, Ind., where the mother died.

BANK ROBBER IS TAKEN BY G-MEN

Member of O'Malley's Gang Wounded in Gun Battle

Kansas City, April 21.—(AP)—Clarence Sparger and John Langdon, sought by the government for bank robbery and automobile theft, were arrested today after a fierce gun fight near here in which Sparger and a federal officer were wounded. Department of Justice men refused to name the agent.

The bureau of investigation said Sparger is under indictment with other members of the Walter (Irish) O'Malley gang, Midwest desperadoes, for the $16,688 robbery of the First National Bank of Neosho, Mo., March 2, 1935. Langdon was wanted in connection with the theft of an automobile near Sioux City, Ia.

Wanted Five Hours.
Machine guns shattered the quiet of the countryside at a tourist cabin at Hickman Mills, Mo., after a 5-hour wait by federal and highway patrolmen.

Iowa Authorities Seek Four Gunmen, Who Held Up Suburban Bank Monday at Sioux City Taking 4 Hostages

Sioux City, Ia., April 21.—(AP)—Iowa threw the full force of its chief law enforcement agencies today into a search for four nervous gunmen who looted the suburban Morningside State Bank of $2,292 and took four bank employees as hostages. Highway patrolmen, sheriff's officers, local police and an agent of the state bureau of investigation joined in the hunt.

The search centered last night in Denison, Ia. area to which the gunmen headed after stealing nails on the highway behind them to delay pursuit.

The robbery was executed yesterday afternoon shortly after closing hours. The gunmen drew up to the bank in a maroon-colored sedan bearing Indiana license plates.

One of them remained in the car as the others entered the bank, drew their guns, scooped up all available cash after failing to open the vault, herded the hostages to the getaway car and fled.

The hostages—John Scott, Jr., president of the bank, W. L. Ayres, cashier; Iva Hubbard, stenographer; and James David, handy-man—were released unharmed at the edge of town.

BUT RESCUERS HAVE HOPE OF SUCCESS SOON

Doctor Calls Wife's Brother to Give Instructions

(Copyright, 1936, By the AP)
Moose River, N. S., April 21.—Although the two men trapped in a gold mine had indicated they were prepared for death after nine days of suffering, hope that they yet might be rescued alive before nightfall was expressed at noon today.

Michael Dwyer, Nova Scotia's minister of mines, who personally is directing rescue efforts, stated: "A few hours at the outside should suffice to reach the men."

However, he disclosed that 20 ft. of fallen material still lay between the rescuers and the prisoners.

Offers New Plan

Toronto, April 21.—(AP)—Dr. G. E. Richards of the Toronto General Hospital today offered a supply of radium to assist rescue workers in their efforts to reach his colleague, Dr. D. E. Robertson, trapped deep in the Moose River gold mine.

Dr. Richards said a tiny supply of radium, which would be furnished by the hospital, could be lowered through the pipe leading to the 141-foot level where Dr. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding are imprisoned.

The hospital also stood ready, he said, to supply the rescue miners with equipment for locating the radium's presence, thereby enabling the miners to direct their tunneling accurately toward the living tomb.

Ontario government officials were advised immediately of the offer.

Plans for the new Lee theater in Dixon to be erected this summer by Leonard G. Rorer, were received this morning from the architect in Chicago and are being distributed to contractors. The plans provide for the building of one of the finest and most modern theater structures in the central west and work is to be started as soon as minor details are completed and the contract awarded.

Several builders of theaters and public buildings have secured the plans and specifications with a view of submitting bids.

The plans provide for the entrance to the theater on First street, with a large canopy over the sidewalk. The box office will be located in the center of the foyer and will be constructed of Belgian structural glass. On the east side of the foyer, elaborate rooms will be built for a ladies' lounge and smoking room with rest rooms in addition. Men's rest rooms will be located on the west side of the foyer.

Exits on North Side
A continuous aisle will extend down both sides, with a spacious center aisle with exits which will extend north to Commercial alley. The latest type of indirect lighting which will produce 55 different color effects will illuminate the theater. There will be no dressing rooms or balcony, the theater being situated on one floor, and a platform suitable for the accommodation of a speaking program, will support the screen.

A mezzanine floor will accommodate offices, studio and poster rooms. No public office space is provided in the plans. The heating and air conditioning equipment will be housed in the basement.

Front On First Street
The theater will front on First street and the entire front will be constructed largely of Vitrolite glass and pressed brick. Plans for the Galena avenue section of the new theater have not been entirely completed, but Mr. Rorer plans to arrange for two spacious and modern store rooms on the west side of his theater. The front of the theater will be illuminated with neon electric lights and the ornamental poster cases will be separately illuminated. The tentative plans for the Galena side of the building, provide for a corner entrance at Galena avenue and First street and a second entrance about midway north to Commercial alley.

With the completion of the plans for the new Lee theater, Mr. Rorer hopes to be able to start work as soon as contractor's have been selected.

Where Plane Crash Killed Harvey and Wife

Twisted and scorched metal was all that remained of this plane, in which Frederick H. Harvey, inset, railway restaurant system vice president, and his wife plunged to their deaths near Dunle, Pa. Farmers who witnessed the disaster said the plane literally seemed to fall apart in the air. Parts were scattered for 900 feet by the blast caused when the falling craft struck high tension wires. The bodies were charred almost beyond recognition. Harvey, a veteran pilot, was returning with his wife from New York to their Kansas City, Mo., home.

Ignored Debt

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—When Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced today that Great Britain closed her fiscal year with a surplus of $14,700,000, he took no notice of the $582,803.306 which the British government has defaulted in war debts to the United States since June, 1934.

Another payment of $85,670,765.05 will become due from England next June 15. The total British debt to this country is $4,950,595,301.

Mills-Petrie Memorial Gymnasium to be Opened Friday Night

(Telegraph Special Service)
Ashton, April 21.—The opening of the Ashton Mills and Petrie Memorial gymnasium, which has been keenly anticipated for months by the entire community as well as the pupils of the high school, will be a realization on Friday evening of this week when the senior class of 1936 will present the play, "The Panther's Claw."

The committee in charge of the new building had hoped that the dedicatory services might be held before any other event, but due to the fact that the foyer is not yet completed, it was decided that the class of '36 be permitted to present their play before the dedication.

With a seating capacity of over 750 the new gymnasium will provide ample room for the record attendance expected at the one night presentation of the play, which is sponsored by the largest class ever graduating from the high school. Many others will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the new building with its wonderfully large stage and excellent stage lighting system.

Justus Templeton Wins Scholarship

(Telegraph Special Service)
Chicago, April 21.—Justus Stevens Templeton, 625 North Ottawa Ave., Dixon, is named among the students offered graduate service scholarships by the University of Chicago in a recently published list of spring awards.

Templeton, a candidate for the A. B. degree at Princeton University this spring, was assigned a scholarship in the Department of Geology.

Graduate scholarships and fellowships were awarded by the University of Chicago to 206 persons among applicants from many parts of the United States and Canada. The grants, effective during the school year 1935-37, provide funds for graduate students working for higher degrees.

WPA Superintendent on Project at Aledo Kills Youth Who Drove His Estranged Wife to California

Aledo, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Stanley H. Prentiss, state's attorney of Merce county, said today that he was preparing murder charges against John Collins 39, carpenter superintendent of the Mississippi river lock project, No. 17 at New Boston for the shotgun slaying of Roger Johnson, 19, of Keithsburg at 3 A. M. today.

Prentiss stated that Collins had made a full confession after surrendering to county authorities.

The shooting, authorities said, was an aftermath of a fight to the west coast by Collins' estranged wife who left her husband on April 11 and hired young Johnson to drive her to Los Angeles. Johnson returned by airplane from Los Angeles yesterday. Collins went to the Johnson home at 3 A. M. today, authorities said, called the youth downstairs and shot him with a sawed off shot gun without warning.

Marital Puzzle

Kenton, O., April 21.—(AP)—Brothers became father and son today as marriage performed a strange mix-up in blood relationships.

John Lightner, Jr., 34, was married to Mrs. Opal Shields, 39, and his 25-year-old brother, Andrew, became his son by marrying Mrs. Shields' 20-year-old daughter, Laverna Shields. The marriages made the former Mrs. Shields and her daughter sisters-in-law.

INJURIES FATAL TO ROY BABCOCK

Victim of Saturday's Accident at Drew's Corners is Dead

Roy R. Babcock, one of the victims of Saturday night's automobile crash at Drew's corners west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway, died at the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital Monday afternoon at 3:15, without having regained consciousness. Pneumonia developed as the result of the left lung having been punctured by several fractured ribs, which caused severe internal hemorrhages.

Coroner Frank M. Banker of Franklin Grove conducted an inquest at the Staples mortuary this morning at 9:30 at which time Sheriff Ward Miller and Dr. H. M. Edwards testified. The verdict of the jury attributed death to hypostatic pneumonia which developed as the result of the injuries sustained in the accident.

Burial in Cedar Rapids
The deceased was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, May 12, 1891 and for the past nine years had been employed as bus driver for the Northwestern stages. For the past year and a half he had lived with his wife and son, LeRoy, at 240 Lincoln Way during which time he had charge of the bus which operates between Sterling and Rockford. The body will be taken to his former home at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, tomorrow for the funeral and interment, following services, conducted by Rev. J. Franklin Young at Staples' chapel at 10 A. M.

The son, LeRoy was recovering from his injuries at the hospital today. His nose was badly crushed and he received an injury to his neck which was causing him considerable pain, but the attending physician stated that he was recovering nicely and would probably be able to leave the hospital within a few days.

Driver Discharged
Henry Peutz, Jr., of Chicago, driver of the car, which failed to negotiate the Drew's corner curve Saturday night, was discharged from the hospital and returned to his home yesterday.

Charles Fierstein, also of Chicago, fourth passenger in the car, is still in the hospital. He was badly cut about the face and suffered numerous body bruises.

DECLARED DELINQUENT

Hazel Garst, aged 15, of this city, was declared delinquent in a hearing before Judge Leech in the county court this morning and was ordered committed to the state training school for girls at Geneva where she was delivered this afternoon. Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber had recently conducted a series of investigations which were declared to have resulted in the filing of the delinquency charges by State's Attorney Edward Jones.

G-MEN AIDING SHERIFF RUN DOWN OUTFIT

Two Clinton Truckers Kidnaped, Hogs Stolen Sunday Night

A double kidnapping and the hijacking of a load of hogs valued at more than $1,600 Sunday evening on the Lincoln Highway east of Franklin Grove, brought federal Department of Justice agents to Dixon today at the request of Sheriff Ward Miller, to assist in running down what is believed to be a well organized band of hijackers operating throughout northern Illinois. Sheriff Miller last evening communicated with the United States Department of Justice officials at Chicago which resulted in operators being dispatched to Dixon today to start the investigation, which was believed to be headed for a well secluded farm near the Indiana state line in the northern part of Illinois.

Told Story Last Eve
W. A. Mess, 58, and John Franzen, 32, of Clinton, Iowa, were kidnapped Sunday night at 10 o'clock and their load of 55 head of mixed hogs, enroute to the Chicago market, was hijacked at a point about one-half mile east of Franklin Grove, they told the Lee county sheriff last evening and related the story of their experience over a period of about 14 hours while held captive by three men armed with machine guns. The elder of the two, Mess, had been beaten over the head by his guard when he attempted to get some fresh air from a cramped position in the bottom of a sedan and covered with a heavy blanket. The truck belonged to Alfred Mess of Clinton and his brother, W. A., was accompanying Franzen, driver, to Chicago with the load of hogs.

At Lunch in Dixon
The two men stopped at the Hayden service station Sunday evening, where their truck was serviced and they ate a lunch before proceeding east. Chicago bound. East of Franklin Grove, the Lincoln Highway paving is patched in several places where it was damaged by the frost leaving the ground a few weeks ago and at the patch farthest east from Franklin Grove, the attention of the two Iowans was first attracted by a sedan which drew up beside their truck and one occupant, who they described as wearing a cap which was similar to those worn by Illinois state police, directed the beams of a strong flash light in their faces and commanded them to stop the truck at once. Believing that they were officers, Franzen complied.

Ordered From Truck
Two men stepped from the sedan, carrying machine guns, and ordered Mess and Franzen to leave their truck and climb into the rear seat of the sedan. Both were warned to keep their eyes down and not try to see the kidnappers. Franzen was ordered to lay on his side on the floor and Mess was hurriedly shoved in beside him, then a heavy blanket was thrown over both. A large man mounted the truck and with some difficulty managed to shift the gears and drove to the curve, then onto the gravel road which continues east along the Northwestern tracks to Ashton.

Mess and Franzen were given brief but emphatic instructions, they said, warned that they would not be harmed if they obeyed orders, they were told to lie still, not to attempt to turn over or remove the heavy blanket which covered them. Two men occupied the front seat of the sedan, one driving while the other kept a constant watch of the prisoners in the back. Mess stated that he was struck in the head several times

President Roosevelt Supports Adequate Defense in Address to D. A. R.

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—

President Roosevelt went on record today with a formal announcement that the United States will not boost its armaments unless other nations make such a step necessary.

Supporting "adequate" defenses he sent a message to the 45th continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution last night, outlining a two-fold policy:

"First, we propose to press, continually, for a limitation of armament by international agreement.

"Second, failing to get that, we will make no increase of our own armament unless other powers by increasing their armament, make increase by us necessary to our national safety."

Because of the death of Col. Louis M. Howe, his secretary, the chief executive did not appear personally at the congress, but sent a letter to Mrs. William A. Becker, president-general.

"We have a disinterested, consistent, and successful foreign policy," he said. "In it we give no thought to a war of aggression on the part of the United States. We stand firmly by our solemn treaty obligation renouncing war as an instrument of national policy."

Asserting that the administration stands for adequate defense and the good neighbor policy, he explained they are not contradictory principles but represent an expression of the "purpose of peace."

The delegates busied themselves today with committee reports and made plans to attend the annual White House reception Thursday.

Looslie-Hill Wedding Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Looslie, 713 W. Second street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Hattie, to Clarence A. Hill, son of Mrs. Mary Hill, 1616 Second street.

The wedding was solemnized at a quiet ceremony early Sunday morning at the parsonage of St. Paul's Lutheran church, with the pastor, Rev. Lloyd Warren Walter, performing the single ring service.

The bride wore a smart grey crepe suit with accessories to match.

Witnesses at the ceremony were the bride's brother, Paul, and Mrs. Dorothy G. Allen, formerly Dorothy Hoyle.

A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home following the ceremony. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hill are graduates of the Dixon High School. The charming bride is employed at the Kline department store and Mr. Hill is employed as a mechanic at the Glassburn Garage. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hill will return to make their home in Dixon. They have the best wishes of their many friends for happiness.

Child Rebellious at Limit of Endurance

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Teddy, pick up the papers you tore up and threw on the grass."

"I don't want to."

"Well, you have to."

"Why?"

"Because I tell you to do it."

Teddy just stood and made eyes.

Mother at the sink said, "I have to work, daddy has to work, everybody has to do things he doesn't like. Little boys, too. I'm asking—I mean telling—you to pick up those papers and throw them in the can."

"But I don't want to." And Teddy didn't move.

"Well, if we won't do things to help, we don't deserve to have any fun. So you'll have to go up to your room and stay all morning, if you aren't willing to help. I can't straighten up the yard because I'm too busy."

"I don't want to."

So Teddy was marched to his room amid screams and yells. He cried for an hour.

"Now will you go out like a good boy and pick up your papers?"

"I don't want to."

"Why?"

"Punishment Was Ineffective"

No answer. But his mother slipped on his coat and took him back to the battlefield. She didn't put on his leggings.

"I'm cold."

"If you stand there all day, through, you'll freeze. Now go on. I'll stay here and watch."

Teddy picked up a couple of papers and carried them to the can. Then he stopped. "I don't want to put any more papers in the can, I'm cold."

So she brought him in and bundled him up. He went out and stood on the back porch again. This time she shut the door. He stood there for fifteen minutes.

Then she brought him in and took him up to his room again. More screams. After a while he got his lunch and was put to bed for his nap.

"I didn't want to pick up the papers, Mama."

And she picked them up herself. What she wants to know is "why" Teddy acted this way. He often helps her and is a responsible child usually, although not yet five.

New Environment to Blame

It was a new house. They had only been in it a few days. What was going on in his mind?

Dear knows. Perhaps, like any other child who feels strange, he could not adapt himself to a new place. He might have picked up papers in his old yard willingly.

Or in the moving and confusion he got the idea that there was altogether too much discomfort and bawling around there and he had reached his limit of endurance. Perhaps the last time he had cleared up a yard his old playmates had been there, and now he was homesick. Children cannot see change with our eyes. It bewilders them at first.

But there was a reason, and like Browning's poem, only God and Teddy knew it. Then as the day passed, the original cause receded from the boy's mind and only God remembered.

Whatever it was, it was there, be sure. Did you ever reach a point in life when the desk or the stove or the order-book suddenly became monsters? When you said, "I don't want to do it. I can't do it. I can't do it. I won't do it?" Then let us allow that children, too, are human beings.

Entertain Group Of Harmon Friends

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Geo. LeFevre of Franklin Grove delightfully entertained a group of old friends and neighbors from the vicinity of Harmon. The LeFevres are former Harmon residents and only recently moved to a farm north of Franklin Grove.

Among those who enjoyed the hospitality of the LeFevres were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Metz, and son Merle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lund, and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beard, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shaulis and children, Betty, Donald and Wayne.

Meeting of Willing Workers S. S. Class

The Willing Workers class of the Grace Evangelical church held its April meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmidt on Van Buren avenue. The class teacher, Rev. Divan, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Melvin gave an interesting lesson study on the subject, "Why Is the Bible Worth Knowing?" Mrs. Carl Withers gave an entertaining reading. Mrs. Shriner then had charge of the short business session, after which games were enjoyed and tempting refreshments

THOSE TIN HATS
Critics of United States army equipment are demanding that the steel helmets and bolt action Springfield and Enfield rifles of World War fame be abolished forthwith. As substitutes for the bolt action rifles the critics offer automatic rifles. We do not know what they have in mind as a substitute for the tin hat.
The manually operated rifle seems to be criticized partly on the ground that it serves mainly as a bayonet holder, and hand-to-hand fighting is not indulged in as often as fiction and the movies indicate. On the other hand, we hear from other sources that the automatic rifle tends to destroy its own aim, while the bolt action rifle has its aim renewed at every shot. A rifle bullet is a wicked affair, and one of them, placed properly, usually suffices. We would say that the aim is as important as anything else, certainly as much so as the number of bullets that can be sprayed in a general direction.

It can be admitted that the American infantryman does not spend all his waking hours going over the top and stabbing the enemy with his bayonet. For a time in Europe the longest bayonet was supposed to have an advantage over the briefer sort, so that the competition in that direction. Our war department, hampered as usual by red tape, did not take part in this competition for longer bayonets. The result was that in practice the Yankee infantryman could parry a thrust, get inside the tip of the enemy point and play havoc. It can not be denied that although bayonet fighting is a rare sport, a bayonet is extremely handy when needed.

The bayonet has other uses, too. It is a deadly weapon in an engagement with a can of corned Willie.
It can be used to chop wood, pry things, repair machinery, loosen dirt, scratch initials on stone walls and to show an officer during inspection. Officers must have things to inspect for dust, rust and grease. If we deprive them of the pleasure of inspecting a long line of gleaming bayonets they must have something else to stare at with menacing eye, and the critics must provide substitutes.

The knowledge that a steel helmet will not stop an enthusiastic bit of shell or a bullet is not new. That is, they will not stop a hit at right angles, but they have been known to deflect bits of metal that might otherwise have inflicted dangerous wounds. A story is told of a group of soldiers who, during a quiet day at the front, engaged in shooting at a stack of hats with rifles, seeing how many of them a single bullet could penetrate. Soon the enemy began a bombardment, and the soldiers, who had been making fun of their tin hats, hastened to put them on.

However, the tin hat has other uses. As long as the war department insists upon dressing the army in those little rain-in-the-face overseas caps, the tin helmet must be depended upon to turn water which otherwise would run down the soldier's neck all the way to his shoes. The tin hat was often used to sit upon when no other dry place could be found and it was guaranteed positively not to sink into the mud.
Water could be carried in them, and drunk therefrom if one did not mind the taste of leather. Tin hats make interesting souvenirs of war days. The sturdy army uniform is eaten by moths, and many an ex-soldier can not longer get his enlarged girth into what is left of his military attire. But one's head generally remains the same size. The helmet and medals, if any, are the war's chief attire that is still available for strutting purposes.

Probably the war department is making some headway in protective apparel, which leads us to inquire what is being done in the way of providing the army with bullet-proof vests. Perhaps the cost would be prohibitive, and even a bullet-proof vest would have limitations as against artillery fire. But our guess is that the traditional American soldier with a bullet-proof vest, a tin hat, bolt action rifle and bayonet would be a good man to bet on in any war.

GET GARNER'S LETTER
Sooner or later it was bound to happen that Senator Black's fishing expedition would disclose correspondence of members of congress or other high officials, but it was hardly to be expected that the first to come to light of the public should be a letter from Vice President Garner.
It should be kept in mind that the Black committee is supposed to be investigating lobbying, with a view to legislation, otherwise one might forget what business Senator Black has with private correspondence of persons all over the country, remote though it may be from the lobbies of congress.
On July 6 John H. Kirby, chairman of the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution, addressed the vice president as "Dear John" and wrote as follows:
"How long are you going to tolerate the apostasy of the Roosevelt administration to the cardinal principles of the democratic party and its notorious contempt for the plain terms of the constitution?"
The reply, in which the salutation was, "Dear John Henry," follows:
"Your favor is just called to my attention.
"You can't do everything you want to and I can't do half of what I would like to do. You don't control everybody you would like to and I am in a similar fix.

I think that answers your question."
If it doesn't answer it, the undenied story printed by one of the gossip columnists, put with it is a fair answer to the question. The story was that sitting in the democratic club down the Potomac river were Garner, Senator Robinson, and Senator Harrison, and that Garner said: "You know I am not for all this New Deal. You are not for it. And he is not for it. But what can we do about it?"
When congressmen begin to realize that they are appropriating money for espionage carried on in their own cases, it may follow that there will be less money appropriated. Only bad men should be investigated.

THE TINY TINKLES
Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

"Now that our tent is fixed just right, thanks to kind Windy Tiny-mote, how would you all enjoy some food?" the old prospector said.
"Oh, that sounds very fine to me.
I'm just as hungry as can be," said Duncy. "I know we'll feel great as soon as we are fed."
Some fine food had been loaded in the little cart and, with a grin, two of the Tinkles brought it forth and put it on the ground.
"Let's build a fire to bring forth light," cause soon daytime will turn to night," said Goldy. "Then for little sticks we all can look around."
The kindly old prospector said,
"I'll make the fire. You go ahead and get the wood. Then we will eat in just a while."
"The girls can set the nice food out to night," said Goldy, "without a doubt." "Why it is tempting me right now," said Copy, "with a smile."
Just as the moon rose in the sky, wee Dotty sat back, with a sigh, and said, "When we have had enough, let's crawl into the tent."
"It's getting dark, and we must snoodle. Come on, we have no time to lose." All of the Tinkles jumped up and straight to the tent they went.
"I'll find a comfy place outside," the old prospector loudly cried. "It's really very warm out here, and I won't catch a cold."
Fair Goldy said, "I hope you're right. If you'd get sick, 'twould be a fright. Be sure you are real careful, 'cause, you know, you're pretty old."
Soon all the Tinkles slept, and then brave Copy woke and jumped up when he heard some pretty music just outside the small tent door.
He peeked out and a man he saw. At first it filled the lad with awe, and then he shouted, "Who are you? What did you come here for?"

$21,024,000,000 for Three Years of the New Deal.

NO WONDER Uncle Sam is shocked. The money he is looking at already has been spent—and future New Deal spendings will exceed those of the past. These figures, in reality, are conservative; they represent the minimum admitted by the New Deal's "trick" bookkeeping methods, plus the debt retirements required by law. Expenditures already made amount to nearly a billion dollars more than the figures shown. Billions soon will be added. President Roosevelt still has on hand nearly 6 billion dollars, appropriated and allocated. The 2 billion dollar soldiers' cash bonus, and the additional one and one-half billions of WPA funds also must be added.

COMMITTEES OF MAJOR PARTIES MEET THIS WEEK

Plans for National Conventions Will Likely Be Completed

Washington, April 21. — (AP) — Leaders of both major parties gave sharp attention today to the approaching national conventions and to the job of picking the key men for the big political shows of June.

The Republican and Democratic committees on arrangements both meet this week. The Republican committee foregathers today in Cleveland. It is scheduled to select officers for the convention, but there is some sentiment within the party to postpone naming the important keynote speaker until the trend of the race for the nomination becomes more apparent.

The Democratic committee will meet Saturday at Philadelphia and is expected to pick all important convention officers. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, is generally expected to be permanent chairman, while Governors Earle of Pennsylvania and McNutt of Indiana are prominently mentioned as possible choice for keynote. Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois also has been mentioned.

Many observers expect Sen. Wagner (D-N.Y.) to be named to make the address re-nominating President Roosevelt.

While the leaders planned their party strategy, the campaign was continued to rage.

Norris Backs Franklin
Senator Norris (R-Nebr.), supporter of the president, declared in a statement that Roosevelt "stands out as an ideal statesman, able and competent to solve the difficult problems of state which now confront our leaders."

Norris endorsed a move initiated by Paul Best, former president of the District of Columbia Young Democrats, to organize "first voters" behind the president's campaign for re-election. The senator said "one of the hopeful signs of our political situation is the interest which is being taken in country's welfare by the young men and women of the nation."

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, in an interview at Omaha, Neb., said Norris was "the outstanding statesman of our time." He urged Nebraskans to "send him back to the senate."

League's New Attack
A new attack on the administration came from the American Liberty League, which said in a statement that "vituperation, persecution and abuse alone have been used to combat unanswerable facts and logic" offered by the league.

The organization appealed for concerted opposition to any curtailment of the courts' powers by legislation or constitutional amendment.

Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, outlined some views on the political situation at Los Angeles. He expressed the opinion that Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas would be the Republican presidential nominee, but that Roosevelt would be re-elected.

Dispute Knox's Claims
Carl G. Bachmann, chairman of

AWAITS THURSTON'S GHOST

If a ghost can return from the grave, Howard Thurston, magician who recently died, will smash with a spectral fist the glass case protecting a statue of Ramesis II, which Joseph Dunninger, world-famous magician, inspects to closely. Thurston entered the strange pact, Dunninger announced in New York, in an attempt to solve the riddle of spectral existence.

the Borah-for-President campaign committee, issued a statement disputing claims made by supporters of Col. Frank Knox that virtually all of the Illinois delegates would vote for Knox in the national convention.

"Senator Borah carried 13 out of 15 congressional districts," said Bachmann. "This expression of confidence of the rural voters in Senator Borah, without the expenditure of a dollar, amounts to a political miracle. x x x Any attempt to thwart the will of the rural voters of Illinois by ignoring the presidential preference primary in the 15 downstate districts spells defeat for the Republican ticket next November in Illinois."

DAILY HEALTH

VITAMIN D EXCESS: I.

The recently reported death of a scientist who allegedly succumbed to excessive doses of vitamin D brings up the subject of hypervitaminosis D.

In 1924 it was discovered that a substance known as ergosterol, when exposed to ultra-violet light, acquires vitamin D properties. This discovery made available what is now known as viosterol, a substance of high vitamin D concentration.

As is customary in medicine, before clinical use was made of this newly-discovered substance, tests were made on experimental animals to determine its toxicity. It was found to be safe in "ordinary" dosage. Doses 100 times greater than those required for the prevention or cure of rickets were still without toxic effect on the experimental animals.

However, a dose of 1,000 times the minimum proved to be definitely harmful, especially when administered over long periods of time. When the dosage was further increased to 10,000 times the normal, it was strongly toxic.

The toxicity of the excessive doses of vitamin D, it was found, was more marked when the animal was maintained on an insufficient or badly balanced diet.

Also, the young non-rachitic animal had less tolerance for the excess vitamin D than did the older rickett-suffering individual.

One significant observation was that animals given excessive doses of vitamin D recovered quickly if the drug was withheld in reasonable time. In this connection it is worth noting that vitamins have been compared, because of their effects upon body physiology of the glands of internal secretion. Of the latter (hormones), medical science has learned that excesses are definitely injurious.

Tomorrow—Vitamin D Excess: II.

A degree of longitude varies from 69.1 miles at the equator to zero at the poles, but on flat maps all degrees of longitude are represented as being of equal length.

GERMANY'S TANK FORCE GREATEST IN ALL EUROPE

Demonstrated at Long Parade on Hitler's Birth Anniversary

Berlin, April 21. — (AP) — Remilitarized Germany paid homage Monday to Reichsfuehrer Hitler on his 47th birthday anniversary as its supreme commander by staging the biggest military parade held in Berlin since the war.

In its demonstration, the Reichswehr revealed for the first time that it considers its tank units as a separate entity and not merely an auxiliary arm of other forces such as infantry.

Nearly 300 two-man tanks, besides scores of large and medium tanks, rumbled past Hitler as the crowd cheered this new development in military science. The applause given the tanks was louder than that accorded any other branch of the service on review.

Military experts estimated that Germany already enjoys a numerical superiority in tanks over other European nations.

Marched Two Hours

For almost two hours column after column marched past Der Fuehrer and his high officers. Motorcycles, howitzers, trucks, and anti-aircraft guns were included.

The entire German cabinet attended but the French and British ambassadors, as well as the ministers of Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and Rumania were conspicuously absent. Ambassador William E. Dodd of the United States departed for America on his annual vacation two days ago.

The parade showed that the famous Prussian goose step and precision close order drill again was an integral part of German military discipline.

Official figures were that 489 officers, 13,932 men, 977 horses and 1,574 motorized vehicles participated in the parade of the army which Der Fuehrer strengthened a year ago in violation of the World War treaty of Versailles.

GOOD OLD DAD

Milwaukee, April 21. — (AP) — Merrill Alonzo Butterfield's daughter, Elizabeth, 14, was to have her tonsils removed. To ease the ordeal, Butterfield, 41, offered to have a tonsilectomy, too, since his tonsils should have been taken out anyway, he said.

Today the daughter was almost completely recovered; her father was dead. A coroner's autopsy fixed the cause of death as pneumonia.

Huge Bridge Section Gets Sky Ride

Swinging high above the waters of the bay, this huge fabricated section of the steel deck frame of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge is being hoisted into place by traveling cranes. Moving far overhead, the cranes lift the section slowly upward from the barge on which it had been taken into the bay. By this engineering feat, all the framework for the two decks to carry nine lanes of vehicle traffic and two interurban tracks will soar into place, to be bolted and supported from the suspension section.

WARD POLITICS FELT CAUSE OF CARROLL DEATH

Chicago, April 21. — (AP) — Patrick Carroll's role as a gambler and minor politician in the forty-second ward—locale of many of the near north side's gay resorts—was studied by investigators today in an effort to find a clue to his mysterious slaying.

Carroll, 45, Democratic precinct captain and identified by detectives as an employee of handbook establishments, was found at the emergency entrance of the Henrotin hospital early Sunday. A bullet had penetrated below his heart and coursed down to his stomach.

In his dying statement, he told officials he had been shot as he stood on the corner of Wells street and Chicago avenue. He claimed he did not see his assailants. He insisted the bullet came from a passing automobile and that he had walked more than three blocks to the hospital.

Physicians said he would not have been able to walk that distance. Lieut. George Devereaux advanced the belief Carroll had been taken to the hospital in a car.

Construction Of New Battleships Urged By Admiral

Washington, April 21. — (AP) — A recommendation that construction of two new battleships be started was placed formally before President Roosevelt Monday by Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations and acting secretary of the navy.

"The president didn't say yes and he didn't say no," Standley reported. He said existing naval treaties authorized two new battleships as replacements. He emphasized that Great Britain is building two such vessels.

Roosevelt said recently he did not expect to ask Congress for funds for battleships at this time. The admiral estimated about $4,000,000 would be required during the coming year to commence

Sets Amphibian Altitude Marks

Two world altitude records were broken over Stratford Conn., by Capt. Boris Sergievsky, Russian war ace American by adoption, shown here seated in an S-42 Sikorsky Clipper ship, the type in which he soared 27,950 feet. Former marks broken were 500 kilograms, for Class C-3 amphibians, without load, 18,641 feet, and 500 kilograms, same class, with payload, 17,877 feet.

work on the ships which would have a total cost of $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 each.

About 4 years would be required for completion of the two battleships, he said.

LOST $2000 GEMS

Seattle, Wash., April 21. — (AP) — Comm. A. E. Lee, medical officer of the navy recruiting station, wanted to teach his wife a lesson about being careless with jewelry. Without telling her, he took her jewels from a mantel and pocketed them. Next day he asked police to look for $2000 worth of gems. He had lost them.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

FLIGHT FROM SACRIFICE

THE altar was being prepared for sacrifice of the children, Phrixus and Helle, to the great god Zeus. They were the son and the daughter of Athamas, King of Thebes, and had suffered persecution at the hands of their stepmother Ino, when their own mother rescued them.

Mounting the back of a winged, golden-fleeced ram, the boy and the girl flew from Thebes to find refuge with Aetes, king of Colchis. On the way, however, Helle fell to her death in the water below. Since then that body of water has been called the Hellespont.

Phrixus flew on, though, and when he arrived at Colchis he offered the ram in sacrifice on the altar of Mars, and placed its golden fleece under the guardianship of a fiery dragon.

The 100 drachma value of Greece's recent mythological set of stamps illustrates this story, with a picture of Phrixus and Helle in flight on the winged ram.

LEE DAIRY HERD STANDARD HIGH

Yale Receives Final Summary of 1935's Records From "U"

High standards in efficient milk production for Lee County herds were set during the past year when the highest producing cow in the Lee No. 2 Dairy Herd Improvement Association averaged 502.3 pounds of butterfat for the year and returned $95.94 above cost of the feed she ate.

This same cow furnished a striking lesson in economy of production. She returned on the average 8 times as much above feed cost as the average of the 14 lowest producing cows.

A final summary of the association's records for the past year has just been received by Farm Adviser C. E. Yale, from Professor C. S. Rhode and J. G. Cash, of the dairy husbandry department, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Records which the 15 members of the association are keeping on in this county to further improve methods of dairy herd feeding, breeding, and management.

Ward Shank of Dixon, with a herd of 25 grade Holsteins led the association with an average production of 9,821 pounds of milk and 349.0 pounds of fat. A herd of 15 mixed cattle owned by Harry Friedrichs, Dixon, was second, while Aaron Pluck & Son, Dixon; Powers & Drury, Sterling; and Buckaloo & Hendershot, Dixon, had the third, fourth, and fifth highest producing herds.

The leading individual cow of the 322 in the association was a grade Holstein that made 14,441 pounds of milk and 502.3 pounds of fat and was owned by Ward Shank of Dixon.

The year's average for all the cows was 8,087 pounds of milk and 291.9 pounds of butterfat and a return of $46.49 above cost of feed.

In the main, members who kept smaller herds of high producing cows and gave them the right kind of feed and care made more money and put less milk and butterfat into market competition than did the farmers who kept larger herds of less efficient cows. These better dairymen are demonstrating that culling out the poorer cows and keeping the smallest number that is practical to produce what dairy products can be sold advantageously is the safer and more profitable plan.

Members of the Lee No. 2 Dairy Herd Improvement Association who had records in the annual summary are: Ward Shank, Dixon; Harry Friedrichs, Dixon; Aaron Pluck & Son, Dixon; Powers & Drury, Sterling; Buckaloo & Hendershot, Dixon; J. B. Reaver, Sterling; DeWitt Morgan, Dixon; Keith Swartz, Dixon; W. S. Boynton, Dixon; Harold McCleary, Dixon; Charles Manon, Sterling; J. G. Woessner, Jr., Dixon; Leon Miller, Dixon; F. Scholl, Dixon; and Joy Atkinson, Dixon.

Members starting out the year are: Buckaloo & Hendershot, Dixon; Fred H. Friedrichs, Dixon; Harry Friedrichs, Dixon; Aaron Pluck & Son, Dixon; Henry W. Hey, Dixon; Lloyd L. Johnson, Dixon; Miller & Diehl, Dixon; DeWitt Morgan, Dixon; Granville Reigle, Dixon; Ward Shank, Dixon; Smith & Covert, Dixon; Keith Swartz, Dixon; Ried C. March, Franklin Grove; Powers & Drury, Sterling; J. B. Reaver, Sterling; Swifts & Son, Sterling; and Wm. W. Shore, Woodstock.

BLACKSMITHS IN ROCK FALLS GET BUSINESS

Sterling Smithies Extinct as Dodo in Modern Era

Rock Falls is reaping a harvest as a result of the lack of blacksmith and harness shops in Sterling. When the late William Jackson died some time ago, the last of the old time harness shops here passed out of existence. Then came the closing of the Waters' blacksmith shop when the building it occupied was torn down, leaving the city without a blacksmith. The result is that farmers are forced to go to Rock Falls, where there are both blacksmith and harness shops, in order to get their repair work done.

Some of the farmers have taken to doing their own repair work, purchasing small portable outfits on which the lighter work can be turned out. During the past winter many farmers in the vicinity of Sterling purchased harness horses and sewing outfits and put in a part of the long winter days repairing their harness.

A combination harness and blacksmith shop in the city would, it is said, do a good business because of the increase in the number of horses that are being used on the farms.

Crankcase oil will be diluted less if a more volatile gas is used.

MY PROJECT STORY

By Merle Bowers

Robert Folkers, reporter

I enrolled in vocational agriculture in 1934 for my second year. For a project, I took the care and management of seven acres of yellow corn. The variety I selected was Funk's Yellow Dent. The plot of ground was rather rolling, the soil being a sandy loam but it was the most convenient for my purpose.

Because of attending school, I had to hire my father to do the plowing. Then the seed was worked and leveled off. I failed to get the corn planted as early as I wished, but due to the favorable weather conditions it lost no time getting started to grow.

With the wet weather in June and July, the weeds got off to a good start but I succeeded in getting it plowed three times before it got too tall. When it came to picking time, we picked the corn on Saturday when I was home. It yielded around forty bushels per acre making a total of two hundred and eighty bushels. With the corn valued at 45c a bushel it would be worth $126. With all expenses out, the total profit is $76.

I have enrolled in agriculture again this year and plan on taking $100 White Rock baby chicks and one acre of early and late potatoes.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Last month the Institute of American Poultry Industries outlined to produce dealers in different mid-western states a buying policy which should be of help to you folks who produce fine poultry and eggs.

In their effort to establish this policy they had the full co-operation of the agricultural colleges and the departments of agriculture in the various states.

Practically all the produce plants have agreed to grade both the poultry and eggs according to weight and quality and to pay for them on that basis.

This should be good news to anyone who raises good poultry and takes good care of it.

You bring in fine, big chickens. Certainly you deserve a better price than the fellow who brings in poorly fed, nondescript birds.

You feed your hens well; you gather your eggs several times a week—big, clean, fresh eggs! On the other hand there is the farmer who lets his chickens scratch around for themselves and pick up what feed they can, who keeps his eggs too long—and finally brings them to town. They are under-sized, many of them are dirty, few of them are fresh.

Surely your eggs are worth more than this.

Grading Will Benefit Producer

With this new program in effect, you will be able to sell your produce for what it is worth!

The strange thing is that such a policy was not adopted long ago. Practically everything else you market—grain, cattle, cream, fruit, vegetables, etc.—is paid for according to its quality.

Now poultry and eggs will be added to the list.

Of course, certain produce houses have been grading eggs for a long time and paying for them on the basis of quality. These produce houses have served the farmers in their communities well.

Now, with the states, the colleges, and the national poultry organizations co-operating, to promote the grading of poultry as well as eggs, and to make the practice general, it seems to me you should be very much encouraged about the future possibilities.

One of the colleges intends to include work on this new grading program in its short course and has offered the use of its radio station to spread the news. You probably will be hearing more about it.

Sincerely Yours,

Frank Priebe

Horse Frees Couple From Plow

Selma's only a $65 truck horse, but to the Greens, of Jena, La., he comes as the noblest of steeds. The reason? No longer will Farmer Paul J. Green and his wife have to yoke themselves to the plow as shown above, to break the tough, weedy, root-studded ground on their cotton farm as poverty has forced them to do for the last three years. An executive of the Resettlement Administration Board heard of their plight and, after a long struggle, lent them money to buy Selma, with which the Greens and their daughter Ruth, 17, are shown below. And now Selma is the pampered pet of the family.

LEE DAIRY HERD REPORTS GIVEN

Lee County Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. No. 1 reports 329 cows on test with 36 of the cows dry with an average of 778 lbs. of milk and 31 lbs. of fat, milking twice a day.

Elmer Fulton of Ashton led the Assn. with a herd of P. B. Holsteins averaging 1058 lbs. of milk with 49.7 lbs. of fat. Mr. Fulton is a very good feeder. He feeds a balanced ration of corn and cob meal, mixed half and half, ground soy beans (that he raised himself), soybean oil meal, salt, bone meal, and mineral with plenty of good alfalfa hay.

Six high herds, 1. Elmer Fulton 11 P. B. Holsteins with 1058 lbs. of milk and 49.7 lb. of fat, 2. Joe Rapp 11 P. B. Holsteins with 908 lbs. milk and 37.8 lbs. fat, 3. Edward Cole 8 P. B. Holsteins with 1018 lbs. milk and 37.4 lbs. fat, 4. Hurler Ditch, 5 P. B. Holsteins with 1043 lbs. milk and 36.3 lbs. fat, 5. Al Antoine with a herd of Grade and P. B. Holsteins with 829 lbs. milk and 36.3 lbs. fat, 6. William Meyer, 10 P. B. Holsteins with 985 lbs. of milk and 34.5 lbs. of fat.

Ten high cows, 1. Rockford P. B. Holstein gave 1786 lbs. of milk with 91.9 lbs. fat, 2. George Montavon P. B. Guernsey, 1345 lbs. of milk with 72.6 lbs. of fat, 3. Elmer Fulton, P. B. Holstein gave 1891 lbs. milk and 71.9 lbs. fat, 4. William Meyer, P. B. Holstein, 1276 lbs. with 71.8 lbs. fat, 5. Hurler Ditch, P. B. Holstein, L. A. Faivre & Son, P. B. Holstein, milk 2230 lbs. with 67.0 lbs. fat, 6. milk 1872 lbs. with 65.5 lbs. fat, 7. Edward Cole, P. B. Holstein, milk 1494 lbs. with 62.7 lbs. fat, 8. Joe Rapp, P. B. Holstein, milk 1345 lbs. with 52.8 lbs. fat, 9. Vernon Pomeroy, P. B. Holstein, 1389 lbs. milk with 62.8 lbs. fat, 10. Al Antoine, P. B. Holstein, gave 1389 lbs. milk with 51.4 lbs. fat.

A herd of 11 grade Holsteins and Jerseys, owned by Keith Swartz led the Lee Co. Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 2 for March with an average of 1080 lbs. of milk and 39.6 lbs. of fat. These cows were milked twice daily and were fed a balanced ration of corn, oats and soy bean oilmeal with a liberal amount of alfalfa and soybean hay.

Swifts and Son's herd of 14 grade Holsteins were second with an average of 1009 lbs. milk and 36.3 lbs. of fat. These cows were milked twice daily, being fed a balanced ration. One of the 14 cows was dry. Buckaloo & Hendershot's herd of 18 purebred and grade Holsteins were third with an average of 1018 lbs. of milk and 35.2 lbs. of butterfat. These cows were milked twice daily, this herd also being fed a balanced ration.

There were two herds tied for fourth place with 33.6 lbs. of butterfat. Ward D. Shank's herd of 24 grade Holsteins with an average of 1050 lbs. of milk and 33.6 lbs. of fat. This herd was fed a balanced ration. One of the 24 cows was dry. Joe Reaver's herd of 15 grade Holsteins with an average of 965 lbs. of milk and 33.6 lbs. of butterfat. This herd was fed a balanced ration.

There were 362 cows on test from 18 herds in the month of March. 33 of the 362 cows on test were dry. These 362 cows produced an average of 714 lbs. of milk and 27.7 lbs. of butterfat on twice a day milking, 61 cows produced over 40 lbs. of fat, and 12 cows produced over 50 lbs. of fat.

Ten high cows, 1. Lloyd L. Johnson's Grade Jersey with 1122 lbs. milk and 67.3 lbs. fat, 2. Swifts & Son's Grade Holstein with 1910 lbs. milk and 64.9 lbs. fat, 3. Smith and Covert's Grade Jersey with 1110 lbs. milk and 64.4 lbs. fat, 4. Ward D. Shank's Grade Holstein with 1897 lbs. milk and 58.8 lbs. fat, 5. Keith Swartz's Grade Holstein with 1688 lbs. milk and 56.0 lbs. fat, 6. Henry Hey's Grade Holstein with 1172 lbs. milk and 55.1 lbs. fat, 7. Harry Friedrichs' Grade Holstein with 1519 lbs. milk and 54.7 lbs. fat, 8. Henry Hey's Grade Holstein with 1335 lbs. milk and 53.7 lbs. fat, 9. Smith and Covert's Grade Jersey with 1256 lbs. milk and 52.8 lbs. fat, 10. Reid March's Purebred Holstein with 1283 lbs. milk and 51.3 lbs. fat—Tester, Orlando Spangler.

4-H Club Members To Meet With Yale

Election of officers for Lee county 4-H clubs will be held Friday, April 24, Farm Adviser C. E. Yale has advised club members.

It is not too late for any boy or girl to start projects such as market barrows, purebred sills, market lambs, chick brooding or acre of corn. Anyone interested should see Carl Rosenkranz, Paw Paw leader, or C. E. Yale, county leader for particulars.

ELECTRIFYING OF FARMS PLAN IS CONSIDERED

Increased Interest In Plan To Bring Rural Service

Urbana, Ill., April 21.—With only 13 of every 100 Illinois farms having electric service, increased interest in rural electrification has resulted in the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, calling a series of district conferences to discuss problems connected with the expansion of electric service to farms, according to E. W. Lehmann, head of the agricultural engineering department of the college.

Discussion at the conference will be led by representatives of the Rural Electrification Administration, State Commerce Commission, Illinois Agricultural Association, utilities, municipal light plants and the extension service. Delegates to the conference will include farm and home advisers and members of the county program planning committees.

Mt. Sterling Meeting
Meetings will be held at Mount Sterling on April 15; Carlinville, April 16; Belleville, April 17; Champaign, April 20; Galesburg, April 21; Polo, April 22; Ottawa, April 23; Olney, April 28; Harrisburg, April 29 and Anna, April 30.

"It is believed that electric service can be extended economically to from 20,000 to 30,000 Illinois farms during the next four or five years," Mr. Lehmann said. "The county program building committees who have been working with the extension service of the college to establish a co-ordinated educational program in agriculture and home economics have found rural electrification to overshadow most other interests in many sections of the state."

The important factors determining the cost of the extension of electric lines, the standard of line construction, the development of rates and the uses to be made of electricity on farms served will be among the problems to be discussed at the conferences. In addition, attention will be given to means by which the farm and home advisers and the program building committees may aid farmers in their county who desire electric service.

County meetings will be held after the district conferences are completed, Lehmann said. R. R. Parks, who has recently been appointed to the extension staff of the college, will devote a major portion of his farm and home advisers and the program building committees.

New Farm Credit Program Over KWK

A new farm program in which various phases of farm finance and farm credit are discussed is being conducted each Thursday morning at 6:30 o'clock by Station KWK in connection with the Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis. The program follows the broadcast of the early livestock markets.

One of the features of the program is a question box where inquiries sent in by listeners regarding both long-term credit for farm real estate purchase or refinancing and short-term credit for production purposes are answered.

FARMER CO-OP CONCLAVE AT URBANA SOON

Urbana, Ill., April 21.—More than 2,000 farmers' cooperative executives and employees, federal and state officials, leaders of general farm organizations, county farm advisers and vocational agricultural teachers will gather at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois to attend the 12th annual session of the American Institute of Cooperation on June 15 to 19, it was announced today by H. C. M. Case, head of the department of agricultural economics.

Governed by a board of trustees chosen by and from the leading farmers' cooperative organizations of the country, the institute meets each summer as the guest of one of the outstanding educational institutions. Last year the host was Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

"The institute is an educational enterprise," said Case, "interested in gathering and disseminating knowledge and research results concerning the cooperative movement. The morning sessions will be devoted to problems and issues in which all cooperatives are interested. In the afternoons the several commodity groups, such as livestock, dairy, grain, fruits and vegetables, eggs and poultry and cooperating purchasing groups will hold intensive sectional discussions."

"There will also be conferences on special problems as well as group meetings for vocational agriculture teachers, county farm advisers and local officials of the cooperative credit agencies operating under the Farm Credit Administration. Speakers of national importance will lead discussions on all types of cooperative problems."

One of the problems to be discussed by the representatives of farmers' business organizations will be the effect upon cooperatives of the new soil conservation and domestic allotment program.

In connection with the institute a four-week short course providing credit of graduate or undergraduate standing in four subjects dealing with agricultural cooperation and related fields will be offered by the College of Agriculture.

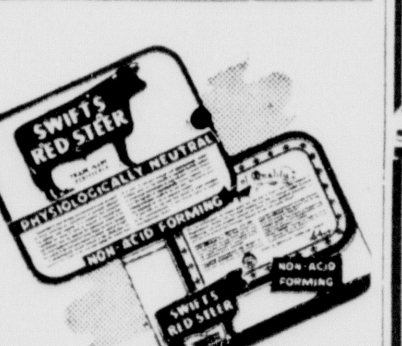

Cattle Feeders Plan Meeting In Amboy, April 23

Thursday evening, April 23, the Chicago Producers Commission Association will hold a meeting at the Masonic Hall, Amboy, at which time they will give the results of the Spring Cattle Survey. A similar meeting was held last year and was accepted so favorably by cattle feeders throughout the state of Illinois, that it was decided to again give this information to the cattle feeders. This meeting is also in regard to the outlook of the cattle market along with a brief talk on the outlook of the hog market, so that all feeders in the county should be interested in attending.

The meeting will start promptly at 7:45 P. M.

STATE PAYING FOR WASTAGE; FOREST LANDS

Less Than 3,000,000 of Original 15 Million Left

The frontiersman of the American pioneer days deserves lots of credit but the citizen of today is paying for his inattention to fundamental planning, according to a report of the State Planning Commission.

The report of the commission cited as an instance that of 15,000,000 acres of Illinois' original forests, less than 3,000,000 acres remain.

Paying the Price Now
"Citizens of Illinois are paying the high cost of planlessness because so little attention was given to fundamental planning from frontier days through the westward movement," one official said.

"The life of every inhabitant benefits or suffers according to how wisely town, city, county and state development is planned. What we do today with our natural resources affects human opportunities for generations to follow."

"For example, of the original Illinois forests—15,000,000 acres—covering about 40 per cent of the state's area, less than 3,000,000 acres now remain."

"Of this about 93 per cent is privately owned, thus preventing management with the best interests of the entire state at heart."

"Present waste land, good only for forestation, about 1,500,000 acres, is not being reforested, but allowed to remain as idle land."

Forest Land Needed
"Illinois now needs 6,000,000 acres of forest for hard wood requirements alone and due to a lack of this acreage imports 400,000,000 board feet from outside the state annually."

"Soil erosion is another problem. Not so vital in Illinois as in some other of our states, right at the moment, but of sufficient importance to merit careful study."

Flood Refugees Plan To Return To River Homes

Cairo, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Flood refugees prepared to return to their homes along the Ohio river in southern Illinois and Kentucky as the river continued to drop here today.

While the flood scene had shifted to the lower Mississippi, it was believed it would be a week or more before some of the residents would be able to get back.

The Ohio reached its crest late last week at 52.8 feet W. E. Barron, government meteorologist, predicted it would fall at the rate of one foot every 24 hours by tomorrow.

Although the high water forced several hundred persons out of their lowland homes, there were no lives lost in this region.

Damage was slight, compared with the extensive devastation caused near the river's headwaters in Pennsylvania, but planting will be delayed from a month to six weeks in some sections.

Triplet Bears Are Pride of Zoo; Rare

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Zoo officials today hailed the birth of triplet bears as phenomenal in the animal world as the Dionne quintuplets were among human beings.

"It's quite an accomplishment," said Dr. William M. Mann, "for bears to have three cubs in one litter, but the astounding thing is that they were born to breeds as the very opposite ends of the bruin family tree."

The mother is Romana, a Kadiak. The father is Snowy, a polar.

"For a Kadiak to even associate with a Polar," the Zoo director explained, "is something of an event. But when they fall in love and have young ones—well, that's real animal news."

Motorists generally do not make full use of the braking power of their engines.

Like San Francisco, the city of Melbourne, Australia, owes its development to a gold strike.

Hens Repay You for Good Feed

A ration that produces eggs is never expensive. And we don't know any feed that makes hens lay as well as Red Comb does! The Egg Mash is $2.35 and the Balancer, which, mixed with 200 pounds of your own grain, gives you 300 pounds of mash is $2.70. Farmers who are feeding Red Comb have an unusually large number of eggs to sell—and we're paying a good price for them.

Plan to take home a sack of Red Comb when you bring your eggs in Saturday!

"That Rascal Means" Once Husband of Granddaughter of John Coleman of Dixon

Dixonites Interested in Story of His Actions

Under the title, "That Rascal Means," the Chicago Tribune on Sunday goes back into history with a full page story largely devoted to the murder of Maude Robinson King of Morrison, Ill., on August 29, 1917. Means' connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping again brings him into the limelight and was the cause of the Tribune resurrecting the murder mystery.

Maude Robinson was a member of a prominent family in Morrison and, at the age of 24, married James C. King, 74 years of age, a prominent Chicago lumberman in 1901. King died in October, 1905. His will left over $2,000,000 to establish a home for old men at 360 East Garfield boulevard. There was a nominal bequest to Mrs. King, since she had previously received $100,000 in a pre-nuptial agreement and $250,000 more in stocks. She demanded more, however, and later was given $600,000 outright, plus the income from a $400,000 trust fund which was to revert to the home at the time of her death.

Means Enters Picture

Mrs. King went abroad, remarried in 1909, but obtained a divorce and returned to America in 1912. She saw much of her sister, Mrs. Mary C. Melvin, and through her met Gaston Means, who, as Chicago representative of an Eastern cotton mill, was living in Oak Park, the fiancé of Julie Patterson of that village, whom he afterward married.

Miss Patterson was a close friend of Mrs. Melvin and was the daughter of the former Elizabeth Coleman of Dixon, whose father was John Coleman, a Dixon banker.

Miss Patterson was a niece of Fred Coleman, for many years connected with the Grand Detour Plow Company.

Mrs. King's finances were out of order, Mrs. Melvin suggested that she get Means to help her straighten the affair out. Means agreed. Meanwhile, he had thrown up his job and, under the guise of being a Burns operative, had become a German spy under the direction of Captain Karl Boy-Ed. He went to New York and took Mrs. King with him. He became her business manager—then her master. He wrote her checks, paid her bills and acted as her attorney. Month by month her finances dwindled until at last they were in a desperate condition.

Means Finds A Will

Suddenly Means "discovered" a will while rummaging through some of Mrs. King's papers in her New York apartment. That was in August, 1915. The will purported to have been written by King five days before his death and left his entire estate to his widow, making no provision for the old men's home. For some reason neither Means nor Mrs. King made any effort to probate the will, but carried it about with them for two years.

In 1917 Mrs. King went with Means to his family home in Concord, N. C. On August 29, she accompanied Means, his brother Anton, and Captain A. S. Bingham on an automobile ride to Blackwelder's Spring. After Means and Captain Bingham walked away, leaving Means and Mrs. King near the spring.

There was a shot. Means shouted excitedly to his brother and Bingham. They came running up and found Mrs. King in Means' arms, a bullet hole behind her left ear. She was dead.

Inquest Is Held

A perfunctory inquest was held. Means, the only person with Mrs. King at the time of her death, was the principal witness. He said that Mrs. King had kept a small revolver in the crotch of a tree for target practice, that she had taken the gun in spite of his warning. He had turned to light a match, he said, when the gun exploded and he had turned to see Mrs. King topple and the gun fall from her hand.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Mrs. King's body was sent to Chicago for burial. But about this time the news of the second will leaked out. The trust company which was administering the first will swung into action. Coroner Peter Hoffman of Cook county ordered the body exhumed. A post mortem examination was made. The course of the bullet showed that Mrs. King could not possibly have shot herself. Murder was plainly indicated.

Means Is Arrested

Means was arrested in Concord and his private papers seized. His connection with the German spy ring was established. He was placed on trial for the murder and the Chicago and New York officials summoned. This was resented by the hot blooded southerners and Means was acquitted.

Means then filed the second will which he claimed to have found. It probated King's $3,000,000 estate would automatically go to Mrs. Melvin, who was Mrs. King's principal beneficiary. Means had, in the meantime, obtained a contract with Mrs. Melvin whereby he was to get $1,000,000.

The witnesses to the will were Mary C. Melvin, her husband, Addison C. Melvin, a Morrison dentist, and Byron L. Smith, head of the Northern Trust company. The latter two were dead. Attorneys questioned the Smith signature, claiming it a forgery. The case was tried before Governor Henry Horner, then probate judge of Cook county, and was long and bitter. Mrs. Melvin swore that the will was genuine, but asserted that it had not been offered for probate before because she had always understood that it had been destroyed.

Horner ruled that the will was a forgery. The case was appealed to the circuit court. General Roy D. Keehn appeared for Mrs. Melvin. Horner's findings were approved.

Means' Subsequent History.

The remainder of Means' story has no bearing locally. It will be recalled, however, that he was mixed in the Daugherty scandal. Through his testimony Daugherty was ousted as attorney general. Some months later he swore that his previous testimony was a lie and that Daugherty was innocent. He was next implicated in a prohibition affair and drew a sentence of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. He served four years in prison and did not pay the fine. He next bobbed up with a book called "The Strange Death of President Harding" under the name of May Dixon Thatcher, in which he claimed that Mrs. Harding had poisoned the president because of her jealousy over Nan Britton, author of "The President's Daughter."

His next escapade was to get $100,000 from Evelyn Walsh McLean, with which he agreed to recover the Lindbergh baby alive. He was finally arrested on the charge of duping Mrs. McLean and received a sentence of 15 years in the federal penitentiary. His latest was to write a letter in an effort to save Bruno Hauptmann. But he had lost so many times that no one believed him.

INSPECTION OF TROOP 89 WILL BE HELD SOON

Troop 89, First Christian church will on Tuesday evening, April 21, beginning promptly at 7:15 conduct their monthly troop inspection for the current month. Inspection night on "89's" calendar of events signifies a special meeting and by the interest shown in the past among the four patrols in contesting for the honor of being the best equipped patrol in the troop, this has been found to be especially true by the very close inspection scores of last month. The month of March winner was the highly touted Lone Ranger Patrol with Earl Slagle, Jr. as their leader. When one patrol wins over another by only 3-4 of a point difference in final score, the interest usually runs high.

The April race for honors is on now and will come to a climax at the inspection on Tuesday evening. All Scouts of the troop are requested to appear in uniform with staves promptly at 7 o'clock. Patrols to enter will be the following: Lone Ranger Patrol-Earl Slagle, Jr. as Patrol Leader, Lone Wolf Patrol with Bob Edous, leader, the Black Bear Patrol with Bill Moser as their leader, the Beaver Patrol with First Class Scout Art Handell as leader. The Senior Staff Patrol of older boys will also compete and from all indications the inspection will be very close.

Troop 107, Nachusa, and Troop 110, Franklin Grove, are already planning for next year's merit badge projects in insect life and botany respectively, and will spend a whole year on each project.

Ousted U. S. Judge Heads South

DEMOCRATS FROM CHICAGO TO CONTROL CONVENTION

Can Outvote Horner's Friends in State Gathering

Springfield, Ill., April 21—(AP)—Gov. Horner's personal victory in winning renomination did not guarantee him control of the Democratic state convention and the selection of a new state chairman.

Democratic politicians today were understood to be quietly maneuvering for a working agreement between the rival factions in the bitter campaign that preceded the April 14 primary.

Leaders in the Kelly-Nash organization, which unsuccessfully backed D. Herman N. Bundesen for the governorship, were in a strong position, but there were indications that a compromise might be reached before the state convention meets here May 1.

Cook county's delegation at the convention will be able to outvote the 101 downstate counties carried by Horner. Administration strategists, however, apparently expect to have the support of part of the Chicago delegates.

The eleven Kelly-Nash men re-elected to the state central committee are expected to have a larger voice on formal roll calls than the 14 committeemen who pledged allegiance to the governor.

Campbell May Assist

If they desired, they apparently could re-elect Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville as state chairman. Friends of Campbell, who was a Bundesen backer, said he would probably be willing to promote party harmony by letting the administration pick a new chairman.

Campbell was one of two downstate supporters of the Kelly-Nash ticket re-elected to the Democratic state committee. Nine anti-Horner men were victorious in the Cook county districts.

On formal roll calls, each committee casts one vote for every Democratic ballot in his district. The districts carried by the organization men polled a larger vote than the fourteen in which Horner candidates were elected.

The state committee is scheduled to hold its organization meeting just before the Democratic convention comes to order in the fair grounds coliseum.

Cook Co. In Control

Because more Democratic votes were cast in Cook county than downstate, the Cook county delegation will have majority control of the convention. Delegations will be named at the county conventions Monday.

Mayor Kelly of Chicago, a bitter opponent of the governor, has not commented about the November campaign.

During the weekend conferences at French Lick Springs, Ind., Horner said the rival factions would be brought together for the fall campaign.

One report from the Indiana resort was that Attorney General Otto Kernier might be appointed to a federal judgeship, with his nomination to be given to John E. Cassidy of Peoria, who ran for lieutenant governor on the Horner ticket.

REPUBLICAN PLANS

Carbondale, Ill., April 21—(AP)—Chairman John H. Searing of the Republican state central committee announced today the party's state convention at Peoria May 1 would be adjourned, without transacting any business, probably until May 22.

The chairman also announced a meeting of the state committee called for Springfield Thursday, had been postponed.

Searing said he was delaying the meetings because of his inability to ascertain the membership of the newly elected state committee. He explained he had had "a change of heart" from his original decision that the committee, as it was constituted prior to last week's election, could continue to function.

"The official returns are coming in so slowly," he said, "that it will be impossible for me to ascertain by Thursday who are the members of the newly elected state central committee."

THIS IS A NATURAL OCCURRENCE IN THE NORMAL LIFE CYCLE OF PLANT LICE.

CONTRARY TO general belief, extremely cold weather has little effect on the hordes of insects wintering below the surface of the soil, and especially is this so if there is a blanket of snow. Caterpillars, frozen hard as stones, have become active a short time after being thawed out.

Policy "Miserable Mess"

Hastings said the Roosevelt relief policy was in a "miserable mess" and challenged New Dealers not to be "afraid" to permit an investigation of what he termed "schemes to waste the people's money."

After Hastings referred to Robinson's tributes to Smith when they were running mates in 1928, the majority leader replied that he was proud of those tributes because Smith "then stood with the masses against the classes; he stood in opposition to the Senator from Delaware and all that the Senator stands for."

Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.), who probably will re-nominate Roosevelt at the Philadelphia convention, entered the debate to declare that the Republicans engaged in "generalities" and were "krooping for a candidate as well as a platform."

The Republican committee on arrangements, meanwhile, gathered in Cleveland today for a two-day session to select a temporary chairman and keynote speaker for the national convention in June. Ralph Williams of Portland, Oregon, member of the group, said the matter of selection was "a free-for-all."

BITTER FLAREUP IN SENATE OVER NEW DEAL PLANS

Delaware Senator Goads Majority Leader to White Heat Monday

Washington, April 21. — (AP) — A Senate flareup over the New Deal and its enemies pointed today to warming tempers as the campaign progresses.

Before packed galleries Senator (R-Del.) and Democratic leader Robinson, of Arkansas, engaged yesterday in one of the most heated exchanges of the session.

Hastings began with a speech striking at the administration's policies, defending the American Liberty League and Alfred E. Smith, and asking for Democratic support to defeat the New Deal.

Robinson leaped to his feet and shouted his denunciation of enemies of the New Deal. Declaring that Hastings "has assumed to make a defense of Gov. Smith no doubt on the theory that while Al is walking around he may walk into that unlighted and deserted camp where the Senator from Delaware dwells almost alone," Robinson added: "Al will not make that mistake."

He was also in riding clothes. Tim grinned. "You've no idea how talented I am."

"What is this—sales talk?"

"It might be." He looked up at her, but she had turned and was watching the horses, tied a little distance away, grazing.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By ARTHUR T. GUEST

Rochelle—One hundred and thirty-five mite boxes collected at the Easter service of the Presbyterian church yielded $270.00. There are still 60 boxes out. The report of J. M. Weeks, secretary of finance, for the period April 1, 1935 to April 13, 1936 inclusive showed total receipts of $3,878.89 and disbursements of $3,426.00 leaving a balance of $452.89 on hand with bills payable of $455. Over 400 attended the Easter service.

The library board is planning on attending a regional meeting to be held in Freeport Wednesday of this week.

Advance ticket sale has opened for "Sky High", the American Legion benefit show which will be held in the high school auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 29 and 30th. The home talent is planned to assist in raising funds for the Sons of Veterans Drum & Bugle Corps. The corps consists of twenty-nine boys and two girls who are all drum majors. The corps personnel is drilling each Thursday evening under the direction of W. E. Edwards of Hinckley is composed of:

Drum majors: Betty Saathoff and Anne Westin.

Field drums—John Klewin, Robert Kepner, George O'Brien, Willard Klewin, Junior Glaser and William Stauffer of Rochelle; Robert Cain of Chana; and John Prestegard of Lee.

Bass drum—James Fee and Philmore Oakes of Rochelle.

Cymbals—Ralph Erickson and Harold Palmer, Jr., of Rochelle.

Bugles—Howard Hanlin, James Osborne, Weston Dodge, Lloyd Phillips, Jerry Glaser, John Tigan, Edward Slothower, Jr., Conrad Schabacker, Gordon Winterton, and Robert Mottling, all of Rochelle; Ned McKinley, Vinton Vesta, and Junior Grundy, Creston; Brooks Parker and Vernon Prestegard of Lee; Warren Rice of Monroe Center; and Arland Honeycutt, Kings.

W. F. Vierke is corps commander, Earl Stauffer, drill master and Arthur T. Guest, finance officer. Dance committee includes Clyde E. Harris, Ole Winterton, Roy Westin, Rufus Cain, Walter Klewin, William Hintzschke and Earl Stauffer.

It is planned to buy the corps new uniforms and to enter them in competition at the state convention of the American Legion to be held in Danville in August. Rochelle has the only Junior Drum Corps in the 13th district and is one of less than a half dozen in the state. Carbonale won the first prize at the state convention at Quincy last year. Rochelle will be in Amboy last Tuesday.

Toby Ryan, 19, is a photographic model, posing for photographs to be shown in advertisements. Unknown at first, she is chosen as "The Hillier Soap Girl." Toby shares an apartment with HARRIET HOLM, another model, engaged to marry CLYDE SABIN, whom Toby distrusts.

Wealthy TIM JAMIESON shows Toby with attractions for a time and then seems to forget her. Toby's oldest friend is BILL BRANDT, advertising salesman. She is fond of Bill but has never thought of him romantically.

JAN HILLYER, president of the Hillier Soap Company, sees Toby posing for some photographs. He likes her to dinner and later she has frequent engagements with him.

Clyde Sabin marries a wealthy widow, and Harriet, heart-broken, attempts suicide. She recovers and later goes to the country for a rest.

Toby goes to dinner with Hilmyer and he tells her about his youthful marriage, his wife's death and his recent discovery that she has been unfaithful. Toby learns that she is that daughter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVI

It was another picnic—the early evening of a warm September day. The sun, low in the west, was a golden disk. In another half hour it would drop from sight. Long shadows had fallen on the valley, darkening the green of the trees and shrubs and the field stretching off to the left of the shallow stream. Near the water's edge the first sign of fall had appeared—sandy patches of scarlet berries in the sumac bushes.

A dozen feet from the stream a candle smoldered. A girl was sitting on a log, watching the young man who knelt by the fire. It was Toby and Tim Jamieson.

Toby wore light tan jodhpurs and a white shirt, open at the throat, the sleeves rolled up. Except for the shirt, Toby was a symphony in tan—trousers and arms and face almost as richly colored as the honey shade of her hair.

She finished the last bite of a steak sandwich. "It's amazing," she said, smiling. "Who would ever have suspected you, Tim, of having talents as a cook?"

He was also in riding clothes. Tim grinned. "You've no idea how talented I am."

"What is this—sales talk?"

"It might be." He looked up at her, but she had turned and was watching the horses, tied a little distance away, grazing.

"I wish I could take 'Happy' with me," Toby said, "when I go back to town next week."

"You'll have plenty of other horses to ride."

"Yes, I know, but I like 'Happy'."

Look, Tim, how pink the sky is getting!"

HE rose to his feet and turned at her direction. "You're crazy about the country, aren't you, Gorgeous?" he asked.

"Yes. It's still new to me. This is the first summer I've ever been in the country in my life. I'll be sorry to leave."

"You'd be a lot sorer if you didn't. New York's the place to be in the fall. Best time of the year there. I always get a kick out of it. New shows opening up, new places to go, new people! The Millheim show opens next week, you know. Going to let me take you?"

She was looking at the sunset and did not answer.

"Hey!" Tim exclaimed, "didn't you hear what I said? Are you going to let me take you to the Millheim show?"

chelle was not entered. Should the 13th district still be in first place in membership the Rochelle corps will lead the district unit at the parade in Danville.

Mrs. Mary McGinnis, 910 Lincoln Highway, died Monday afternoon, after an extended illness. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Matt George, of Rochelle; a daughter, Miss Anna McGinnis, and a son, Walter McGinnis both of Chicago. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

The school board of District No. 131, Rochelle's graded public schools met Monday evening at Central school to canvass the votes of the annual election held April 11th.

CHILDREN FOR SAFETY.

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—Hoping to impress upon motorists the need of greater caution while driving, 800 school children paraded downtown streets bearing placards with this slogan: "Make Norfolk Safe in 1936."

A lobster taken off the coast of New Jersey is believed to be the largest ever caught; it weighed 34 pounds and was estimated to be 50 years old.

"Why, yes—I guess so."

"Hm. You don't seem to be very enthusiastic!"

Toby said, apologetically, "I didn't mean it that way, Tim. I was just thinking about something else."

"I could see that, all right. Must be something important."

"No." Toby shook her head. "I was thinking about last year, Tim. About what I was doing at this time a year ago."

"What?"

"I had a new job—sitting in the window of a five-and-ten store, rolling up my hair on curlers and then taking them down again to show how the curlers worked."

"I'll bet you had a crowd at that window! Were the curlers any good?"

"I don't know. My hair curls naturally anyhow."

Tim laughed. "I guess that's what you might call a story to make your hair curl. Do you know, Gorgeous, every day in every way you become more and more remarkable. The crazy things

UPSETS MADE BY UNDERDOG TEAMS MONDAY

Tigers, Yanks Fall 9-6 and 12 To 11 Respectively

BY ANDY CLARKE.
Associated Press Sports Writer.
The Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns, American League underdogs, are crowing today after having jumped into the win column for the first time in the new season.

ed the New York 12-11 while the Browns defeated the champion Detroit Tigers 9-6, belting Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe from the box in the process.

These uprisings were the prime features of a day on which the Pittsburgh Pirates at last ended the jinx that Roy Henshaw held over them and Dizzy Dean, although touched for nine hits, recorded his first victory of the season.

It took a pinch single by Louie (Chubby) Dean with the bases loaded in the ninth to bring the victory smile to the lean features of Connie Mack. The A's hammered Walter Brown and Bump Hadley for 14 hits but they were hard-put to outscore the Yanks who whacked 10 bingles off the slants of Doyle and Turveville.

Browns Trained 4-0.

The Browns were trailing 4-0 going into the seventh inning when they opened the siege that resulted in a total of nine runs in two frames.

Tommy Bridges retreated to the showers under that seventh inning strafing but Schoolboy Rowe, who has pitched the only two games the Tigers have won thus far, suffered a similar fate in the eighth. Elton Hogsett and Clarence (Red) Phillips saw duty on the hill for the Tigers before the carnage was over.

A mighty home run clout by Gus Suhr, captain and first baseman of the Pirates, was necessary to banish the jinx that has seen Henshaw win seven straight games against the Pirates. Suhr's homer, the fourth of the game, came with two aboard and two out in the last half of the ninth and gave the Pirates a 9-8 margin over the Cubs.

It was a fitting end to the reign of Henshaw who with a two-run margin was confident he was starting where he left off last year. Henshaw gave 14 hits, Lavagetto and Pop Young also hitting for the circuit. Chuck Klein got his fourth homer for the Cubs.

Dean has Manager Frankie Frisch to thank for his first victory, an 8-7 win over the Cincinnati Reds. The Cards scored five runs in a ninth inning rally that was started by Frisch when he belted a double to send home three runs. An error and a single by Ducky Medwick accounted for two more and the victory. Of the nine hits against Dizzy, one was a homer by Bill Myers, one a triple and three were doubles.

Senators, Sox Even.

In the first double-header of the season the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox broke even, the Sox winning the first game 6-5 and losing the second 6-2. Pete Appleton spiked the guns of the Red Sox in the afternoon game, allowing but five hits. Ed Linke and Jimmie Fox each connected for homers in the morning encounter.

The four-hit pitching of Vernon Kennedy was the feature of the White Sox's 5-1 win over the Indians while the Boston Bees drove George Earnshaw from the mound as they took an 8-4 decision from the Brooklyn Dodgers. Four straight hits topped by Moore's homer spelled Earnshaw's downfall. The Giants dropped their first game in six starts to the Phillies 7-6, despite Mel Ott's homer with two on in the ninth.

DIXON GOLFERS BEGIN AGAINST KEWANEE FOUR

Will Also Engage in District, State and N. C. I. Matches

SELECTION FOR MEANWELL JOB UNDISCLOSED

Fritz Crisler and Shaughnessy Are Considered

Madison, Wis., April 21.—(AP)—The name of the new University of Wisconsin athletic director, subject of rumors for weeks, was in the hands of President Glenn Frank for submission to the regents' meeting today.

The university athletic council, reorganized recently to assure the western conference the faculty controls Badger athletics, has cloaked in mystery its selection, reported to have been reached and delivered to Dr. Frank last Wednesday.

Dr. W. F. Lorenz, council chairman, said no more than that the question was entirely out of the board's hands and that the nominee's name had been turned over to Dr. Frank.

Among reported candidates for the post were H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of Princeton, Harry Stuhldreher of Villanova, Clarence Rasmussen, Milwaukee Country Day school; Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago; Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt; Howard Olsen, Ohio State; Howard Hancock, Illinois Normal; and William S. Chandler, Marquette. Crisler, Stuhldreher and Shaughnessy denied they were candidates.

Illinois, Maroons Meet on Diamond

Chicago, April 21.—(AP)—Illinois' baseball team, which tied with Chicago for second place in the Big Ten baseball race last season, meets the Maroons today on the Midway field. Both clubs beat Purdue recently, Chicago outslugging the Boiler makers 23 to 16 and Illinois winning 3-1.

Nepal, one of the provinces of India, is closed to all outsiders, on the British envoy and his staff being permitted to live in the capital.

Brazil leads all nations in number of holidays. It has 84. The United States, with 54, is second.

JACOBS SCARED BY $1,000,000 BOXING OFFER

San Diego Vies With New York for Louis Schmeling Fight

New York, April 21.—(AP)—A word picture of a man who did not want a million dollars. In fact, a man who was scared almost speechless by the prospect of getting that much money.

When Promoter Mike Jacobs offered to shift the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight to San Diego, Cal., for a million dollars on the line, he winked at his friends and said: "Well, that'll be the last of that offer. We can forget about those guys in San Diego. That million'll stop 'em."

But to Mike's astonishment and embarrassment the San Diego crowd wired that a million dollars was mere chicken feed out in the sunshine country. It would be forthcoming in a week, Mike was advised.

"Wow! What'll I do now?" shouted Promoter Mike to his friends. "I can't move this fight out of New York. If I do I might as well close up shop in New York. What'll I do, what'll I do?"

"I'll tell you what," advised a Solomon who hung heavily on Promoter Mike's desk. "Tell 'em to get that million here by Monday, April 20, or the whole offer is out. That'll stop 'em."

So Promoter Mike grinned to himself and laid down the million dollar ultimatum to the San Diego crowd.

Then came Monday. Mike's girl secretary announced a caller.

With this machine the complete front axle, front wheels and steering gear is checked for alignment which takes care of any steering troubles and front tire wear. Swinging, hard steering and wandering from side to side troubles show up on the gauges and instruments, guess work and experimenting is not done so this machine saves car owners time and money.

We Will Check Your Car FREE OF CHARGE

With this Motor Analyzer we are able to make a complete check on your motor and find any troubles very quickly which without machine would be hard to find on take quite a lot of time. We adjust carburetors with it to get the right mixture which saves gasoline and makes the motor run better, most every car so far tested we have had to adjust carburetors so that a noticeable saving of gasoline is had.
